Local Lads Take Honors at Show

Major Portion of Prizes Awarded to FFA Members in Annual County Livestock Show

It was Hamlin almost all the way at the annual Jones County Fat Stock Show in Anson last Friday.

Members of the Hamlin Future Farmers of America chapter walked off with prizes in most of the divisions, and their livestock won top money in the sale that followed the showing.

The show, held in the Anson athletic stadium, was attended by hundreds of people from all parts of the county.

Hamlin FFA members took all of the grand championships with the exception of the Grand Champion Dry Lot Calf, which title was won by Carrol Felts, Lueders 4-H Club boy.

Antonio Gonzales, Hamlin, exhibited the Grand Champion Barrow, while a classmate, Charles Nelson, showed the Grand Champion female hog.

James Brigham, Hamlin, exhibited the grand champion hog, and Raymond Scifres, Hamlin, showed the reserve champion hog.

Scifres also exhibited the champion gilt of the show, and Nelson was awarded first place for gilts under eight months.

James Brigham won first place for best showmanship on steers and Antonio Gonzales was awarded first for best showmanship on hogs.

Donald Young was given first on best project records.

The Hamlin FFA won a total of $365 in prize money at the show, according to T. C. Blankenship, FFA instructor.

Blankenship this week expressed appreciation to Hamlin businessmen who had contributed funds and to the success of the show, and thanked those who bought animals at the sale.

The sale was sponsored jointly by the Anson, Robertsons Plan to Open Cafe Saturday

Planning to succeed the famed Morgan House, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Robertson Jr., will open a family-style restaurant Saturday with the noon meal, they announced this week.

The meals will be served in the converted living room of their home, four blocks west of Central Avenue, on the Rotan highway, and the first one will be ready at 11:30 Saturday.

The Robertsons have obtained the services of four former employees of the Morgan House. They are Mrs. Carl Phoenix, Mrs. Travis Conner, Mrs. Will Andress and Mrs. J. P. Bowman.

"If the venture is successful," Robertson said this week, "we will enlarge the serving room by the addition of a wing on the south side of the building." Capacity of the serving room is 70 guests at the time, he said.

Hamlin and Stamford Chamber of Commerce, the show was managed by W. H. Lehmborg, Jones County Agent. It is estimated that more than 700 people attended the exhibition.

W. G. Pritchett served as secretary of the show. Others in charge of departments were: Erwin Baucom, fat beef calves; Jack Rowland, swine show and George von Roeder, poultry.

Tommy Stuart, Sylvester agriculture teacher, judged the beef calves and swine, and Luther Wilson, Fisher County Agent, judged the poultry.

Hamlin Goes Far Over Drive Quota

Goal More Than Doubled in Annual Drive For Red Cross; County Exceeds Quota, Too

Hamlin donors already have given more than twice as much money to the American Red Cross than the quota called for, Arlie Cassle, chairman of the current campaign said Thursday morning.

With a quota of $892, set by officials of the national organization, Hamlin had turned in a total of $2,165.71 prior to Thursday morning, and the campaign had three weeks more to run.

Before last Thursday, the third day of the campaign, donations to the campaign had piled up to more than $1,200 and additional gifts were coming in fast, Cassle reported. The $2,000 mark was reached last Saturday and still the money came in.

Cassle said it is possible that Hamlin will near the $2,500 mark before the end of the month, which also marks the close of the annual drive.

Meanwhile Jones County had exceeded its quota by several hundred dollars, county campaign officials reported. Anson reported Tuesday that it had raised $1,300 on a quota of $900, while Stamford reported collections of $2,052.30 on a quota of $1,918.

On the basis of reports available, from Stamford and Anson Thursday morning, Hamlin was leading the other two county towns substantially, both in percentage of excess over quota and in total dollars contributed. However it was said

Ellenburger Well Opens New Oil Pool for Hamlin

Hospital Costs Less Here, Vaughan Says

It costs less for treatment in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital for 23 days than similar treatment costs in an Abilene hospital for only 11 days, Tom Vaughan, Hamlin businessman, said this week.

Vaughan underwent a major operation in the Hamlin institution early in January and was a patient in the hospital for 23 days. Later he was taken to the Abilene hospital for a second major operation, and was confined there only 11 days.

Cost for all services in the Hamlin hospital totaled only $189.15 while total cost in Abilene for half as many days was $190.35.

Loss of $5,000 Is Estimate in Fire In City Monday

Loss estimated at more than $5,000 was sustained in a fire which swept through the Modern Cleaners plant here shortly after 6 o'clock Monday evening, according to Mrs. B. H. Briscoe, owner of the plant.

The fire, which is believed by firemen to have started from a shorted-out electric motor on the hat-blocking machine in rear of the establishment, spread quickly to naphtha soaked clothing near the machine.

Most of the equipment in the plant was damaged badly, Mrs. Briscoe said, and walls and roof of the building were badly charred and damaged.

Clothing stored in the plant was damaged, and almost completely ruined, Mrs. Briscoe reported. Most of the damage to clothing resulted from the intense heat, smoke and water.

Mrs. Briscoe said the equipment was covered by insurance and that partial coverage of insurance was carried on the clothing in the plant. She requested all persons who had clothing there to call for it as soon as possible to facilitate final adjustment of insurance.

Avoca Scouts Whip Local Troop Cagers

Hamlin Boy Scout troop bowed to the Avoca cager team in a game played in Hamlin Elementary school gymnasium Tuesday night. Score of the contest was 16 to 10, with the Hamlin team threatening the visitors until the last few minutes of play.

H. E. Lawson, scoutmaster, requested this week that more parents attend the athletic events participated in by the scout troop.

Decision in Beer Case to Be Sought By VFW; Lower Court Is Reversed

Upsetting the judgement of the 104th District Court, the 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland last week reversed an order in which the Hamlin Veterans of Foreign Wars had been awarded possession of 9,483 bottles of beer. The beer had been seized by agents for the State Liquor Control Board in a raid last May.

Charges filed at the time the seizure resulted in acquittal for the VFW and its officers, and immediately afterward James F. Woods, manager of the VFW club, filed suit against the L-men, asking for damages and for possession of the liquor. The district court awarded judgement for possession to the club, and the plea for damages was dropped.

Woods filed his suit against J. J. Backus, who appealed the decision of the lower court. A restraining order was issued on application of the Attorney General's office to prevent the beer being turned over to the VFW pending the appeal.

J. R. Black Jr., Abilene attorney, represents the VFW and said last week that a motion for rehearing has been filed in the Eastland court.

If the motion is denied, Black said, the case will be taken on appeal to the state supreme court.

George W. Connell, supervisor for the Abilene District of the State Liquor Control Board, expressed the hope that the case will go to the highest court.

"This is a precedent case," he said, "and our future actions will be governed by the outcome of the matter in the supreme court."

In the meantime the beer is still in custody and is stored in a warehouse of the L-men.

TO GIVE PROGRAM.

Members of the Baptist Training Class of the Calvary Baptist Church will present a special program at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. Title of the program is "The Greatness of Salvation."

Pardue & Toler Well Hits New Pay Zone at 5,950; Tests Are Promising

Promise of the opening of a new pool with vast possibilities was seen this week by oilmen in this area who were watching developments at the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co., No. 1 Pardue & Toler, which encountered the Ellenburger formation at 5,950 feet last Friday.

The well Thursday morning was reported to have been drilled more than 100 feet into the formation and a drillstem test was to be made before noon Thursday.

Oil was standing more than 800 feet in the hole and no water had been encountered, operators said. A strong showing of gas was found. Operators said this week they plan to test the Ellenburger to its deepest point in the hole.

The well, which was started in 1947 and later abandoned as a dry hole, was reopened for operations several weeks ago. Showings of production have been encountered in several other formations higher than the Ellenburger.

When the Ellenburger first was encountered an 80-minute drillstem test from 5,951-68 brought gas to the surface in 15 minutes and recovered

540 feet of heavily oil cut mud. Flowing pressure was 210 pounds. The nearest successful Ellenburger production to the new field is said to be in Throckmorton and Shackelford counties.

It is believed the well will mark the opening of an entirely new pool in the Hamlin area. The well is located four miles northeast of the Round Top reef pool and five miles northwest of Hamlin.

Ellis A. Hall set casing Tuesday in the Wilson No. 2, which had drilled to the Canyon sand at 4,600 feet. A test was expected later in the week.

General Crude, in the Round Top area of the Hamlin field, was running casing Tuesday and preparing for an official completion of the M. Flores No. 5. Total depth was 4,802 feet and the reef was topped at 4,700.

General Crude moved rig in no the No. 1 Y. Flores this week, a southeast location in the field.

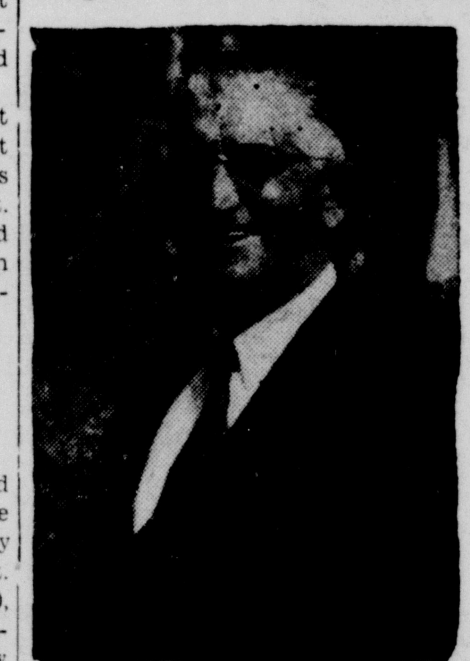

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co., was drilling below 1,500 feet Thursday in a second try for production on the Joe Culbertson lease northeast of Hamlin. Permit for the well called for a total depth of 3,400 feet.

The No. 1, M. Flores et al B., drilled by General Crude, gauged 441 barrels of high gravity oil in 24 hours through a quarter-inch choke on official test this week. The well was drilled to 4,504-4,773 feet. This is the well which caused a loss estimated at $100,000 last week when fire broke out while operators were attempting to bring it in.

Nazarenes Plan Revival Meeting March 18 to 27

Plans for a revival meeting to begin Friday evening, March 18, were announced this week by the Rev. Howard Smith, pastor of the Hamlin Church of the Nazarene.

The services will be in charge of the Rev. B. F. Neely, well-known evangelist of Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Rev. Neely formerly was president of the Hamlin Nazarene College, which closed its doors in 1929.

Song services will be directed by members of the local congregation, Rev. Smith said, and special musical numbers will be given at most of the services.

No morning services are planned for the revival, and the evening services will begin at 7:30, the pastor announced. The meeting will close Sunday evening, March 27. The public is invited to attend.

Missionaries Chosen By Church of Christ

Missionaries to serve in Japan have been elected by the Hamlin and Anson Churches of Christ, which will provide financial support for the missionaries, J. Cleo Scott, local minister, said this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown of Abilene have been chosen for the position and plan to leave the United States in June for Otsuki, Japan.

The churches plan to build a church structure and a home for the missionary as soon as a desirable location can be found.

ON FISHING TRIP

W. C. Russell, Dr. J. F. Hott and Stanley Carmichael left Sunday night for a fishing trip in Mexico. They will return late this week.

Two Councilmen Win Election by Filing Default

Hamlin's two council members, whose terms were due to expire this year, have won reelection to their posts by default, it was announced this week by city officials in charge of filing candidates for the positions.

I. R. Witt and O. D. Roland, incumbents, were the only two candidates to file for positions prior to 5 p.m. Saturday, when the filing closed.

Each man is serving his second successive term in the office, and each will go into office for the third time, shortly after the city election, which is set for Tuesday, April 5.

City officials, who searched the law in regard to the matter, said it will be necessary to conduct the election on the date advertised even though no opposition will be on the ticket for the two councilmen.

Ranch History Told In Talk to Rotarians

A history of ranching in Texas was given to the Hamlin Rotary Club at its Wednesday noon meeting by Mrs. Gordon Bennett of Abilene.

Mrs. Bennett began her talk with the Revolution against Mexico, and briefly discussed the rise of the cattle industry. She contrasted the type of cattle raised in the early days with the fine beef types produced on modern ranches, and pointed out the vast differences in prices. Cattle in that time shipped for as little as 60 cents a head, while today the poorest of cattle ship for as much as $10.

Taylor Van Zandt of McMurry College entertained with two piano solos, and Maurice Pullig of Sweetwater, played several numbers on his guitar.

Clyde Huff and Tate May were appointed on a committee to arrange attendance at the International Rotary convention in New York City, and Pat Marlow and M. T. York were named to plan for attendance at the state convention in Mineral Wells.

Pyorrhea Can Be Cured if Early Treatments Given

Contrary to the public belief that pyorrhea is always incurable, this is only true in the most advanced cases, according to Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. His advice to persons who even suspect the presence of pyorrhea is to seek an early diagnosis from their dentist so that proper treatment can be instituted while the disease is still curable.

"Early detection and proper treatment of pyorrhea represent the formula for a successful cure. This means that the dentist must have an opportunity to discover the presence of the disease at the earliest possible moment. Since the symptoms are often so vague that the patient is unaware of having pyorrhea," Dr. Cox said, "regular visits to the family dentist are extremely important in the control of this disease."

The treatment of pyorrhea is not an involved procedure. In the average early case one of the main therapeutic features is the proper hygienic care of teeth and gums as outlined by any reputable dentist. Carelessness regarding mouth hygiene is usually the basic cause for the condition.

The family dentist can usually remove the cause of the trouble, Dr. Cox said, and when this has been done, intelligent routine care of the mouth by the patient will help to effect a fairly quick cure in the majority of early cases.

Housing for your telephone voice is scarce, too

Like new houses, telephone cable is not yet plentiful. It takes telephone cable to "house" your telephone voice as it travels.

Perhaps telephone poles near your house carry a telephone cable (the thick, lead-covered carrier for a bundle of wires strung from pole to pole). Why can't we connect a telephone for you to this cable?

Ordinarily we could. But today most of these cables have no idle wires in them.

So new telephones take new cable.

That new cable is being made as you read these words. It is spinning out of telephone factories twice as fast as prewar. It is hurried to wherever we need it. There we hustle it into place—at the rate of a million miles of wire in cable this year alone.

Compared with normal production, telephone cable isn't scarce—it's abundant. But when 50,000 more people order telephones every month in the Southwest—as they do—even yesterday's abundance is today's shortage.

We're closing the gap, however, and we owe a lot to your patience and trust that we'll get the job done. For we're just as anxious to get you a telephone as you are to get one.

Farm Products to Decline for Year As Supplies Rise

Hamlin area farmers were counting the returns from their crops of the past year, and contemplating how far their money would go in buying their supplies for the coming season. It is expected the farmer will be one of the first to feel the pinch of receding prices.

On the average, prices paid for Texas farm products will go down a little in 1949; prices farmers pay for things they buy will probably be a little higher than they were last year.

It all adds up to an expected 1949 net income on Texas farms and ranches of some five to 10 per cent below that of 1948, but still greatly above any pre-war year.

That's a two-sentence summary of the 1949 farm prospects as seen by Tyrus R. Timm, extension economist and professor at Texas A. & M. College, who returned recently from the National Agricultural Outlook Conference in Washington, D. C.

As to farm commodities, livestock and livestock products seem to hold the most favorable price position. The most speculative situation is indicated for fruits and vegetables. No sharp decline generally is expected, but some individual commodities in this grouping may experience serious "short run" seasonal declines. In between these two groups of commodities is the outlook for cotton and grain, with cotton holding a more favorable spot.

Meanwhile, he expects prices of automobiles, farm equipment and building materials to be as high or perhaps even higher than in 1948. Some economists, he says, think a general increase of five to eight per cent may be expected.

HERE'S THE PROOF!

COSTS FOR TREATMENT IN HAMLIN MEMORIAL HOSPITAL IS LESS THAN SIMILAR SERVICES IN AN ABILENE HOSPITAL.

Here's positive proof that services in YOUR own hospital will cost you less than comparable services in an Abilene Hospital. In January I spent 23 days in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital, during which time I underwent a major operation. Later I was taken to an Abilene hospital, where I had as second major surgical operation. I was in the Abilene hospital for only 11 days.

Receipted bills from each of the institutions prove my point:

For the 23 days in Hamlin Memorial Hospital, total cost was $189.15.

For only 11 days in Abilene hospital, the total cost was $190.35.

I have the receipted bills from both hospitals and will be glad to show them to any interested person.

Sincerely,

TOM VAUGHAN

Funeral services were conducted at the First Methodist Church of Hamlin at 2 p. m. Monday, March 14, with Dr. W. C. House, pastor, Rev. J. E. Harrell of Anson, and Rev. L. N. Woods, pastor of the Hamlin Assembly of God Church, officiating.

Mrs. Hudson was born in North Carolina, May 19, 1878. She was Sarah Emaline Teague prior to her marriage to A. G. Hudson.

Her parents she moved to Hamlin in 1886 and settled in Lamar county. Later the family moved to Hamlin, where she was married.

Mrs. Hudson was the mother of 13 children, three of whom died in infancy, and two others preceded their mother in death. All of the surviving children, except Mrs. J. W. Connell of Phoenix, Arizona, who was seriously ill, were present for the funeral.

Dr. Gould Hits Proposed Basic Science Law

Declaring that the health freedom of all Texans is at stake in the basic science legislation now pending in the Texas legislature, Dr. Q. Don Gould, Hamlin chiropractor, denounced the measure here this week in a statement to The Herald.

Dr. Gould said the basic science legislation bill has been approved by committees in both the Senate and House of Representatives, and unless members of the public speak out against the proposal, it will become law.

The basic science law is being opposed by chiropractors, osteopaths and naturopaths, Gould said, and added that hundreds of people not in the healing professions have registered opposition to the measure.

Four reasons for opposition to the bill were listed by the Hamlin man. He said the reasons are: 1—

The bill is discriminatory; 2—It places too much power in the hands of one profession, the Texas Medical Association; 3—It deprives the people of their right to select the type of health service they desire; and 4—Super boards set up by the bill would be a duplication of licensing boards and thus be a waste of the taxpayers' money.

"The claim is being made," Dr. Gould said, "that basic science will raise the standards of healing arts practitioners, but it will do no such thing. The bill now being considered by the legislature specifically exempts all present practitioners.

"A chiropractic licensing law that will set the standards required for chiropractic practitioners is now pending in the legislature, and it will do all that the proponents of basic science claim their bill would do," Dr. Gould explained, and added that licensing has worked well in other professions.

Dr. Gould believes the bill is aimed directly at eliminating chiropractors in Texas, and as an example pointed to the fact that in other states where similar legislation has been enacted the number

TU Offers Library Service by Mail

If you want to do special research or write a club paper and have no public library in your home town, write to the University of Texas Package Loan Library Bureau.

Established in 1914 as part of the Extension Division, the Loan library furnishes information on subjects ranging from Pulitzer prize winners to "Bluebonnets in Texas Poetry."

Women's clubs and schools call on the bureau most often, Miss LeNoir Dimmitt, director says. Literature, the most popular pre-war discussion topic, has shown renewed interest, but national and international problems are topics of a large number of programs.

In addition to furnishing "packages" of clippings, pamphlets and other material, Miss Dimmitt and her staff aid clubs in outlining courses of study built around central themes.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I served more than three years in the U. S. Army during World War II. I now wish to take institutional on-farm training and would like to know how much training I will be permitted to take?

A—An institutional on-farm training course may be as long as, but no longer than, is necessary to meet your individual training needs or until you have exhausted your four year period of eligibility.

Q—Do I have to meet any set standard if I am taking an on-farm training course?

A—Yes. Once you start training it is your responsibility to meet the standards of progress set by the institution in which you are enrolled. If you fail, your benefits will be discontinued.

Q—What farming tools and farming equipment do I get while I am taking an on-farm training course under the GI Bill?

A—VA will furnish you with no tools or farm equipment since these are articles with which the farm must be equipped to meet the provisions of the law. However, books and incidental supplies required for classroom work will be furnished you.

Ranchmen of Section Watch Recent Feeding Tests Going on at Texas Tech

Hamlin area ranchers are concerned with a commercial feeding test involving 10 Hereford calves with an eye to saving time and money at no sacrifice to quality cattle now underway at Texas Technological College at Lubbock.

Dean W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department and familiar figure at Scurry County livestock shows which he has judged, expects the experiment to continue a year. To further substantiate the findings of the initial test, a second group of 10 Hereford calves will begin identical testing during the next several days.

Calves under observation are being fed as stockers through the winter and early spring. They will be placed on pasture in the late spring, summer and early fall. Then for the final feeding period they will be divided into lots of five each and one group hand fed while the other group is self-fed.

The experimental calves will make their first public appearance at the spring livestock show in Lubbock, and will be exhibited in one group as stocker calves.

Results of the test, feeds used along with charted weight gains and time spent will be posted a year later at the South Plains livestock show, where they will be entered in the fat yearling steers class.

Possibilities of commercial feeding will greatly lighten the burden of raising show calves, Dean Stangel said, emphasizing that commercial feeding will cut the financial burden for youngsters interested in raising show cattle. It will relieve the necessity for nurse cows and for so much personal attention by the boy, an attendant or his parents.

Exact techniques employed and proper feeding of the cattle commercially will be available along with any other information desired from the animal husbandry department on the successful completion of the project.

Calves being used in the project are from the Pan-Tech farms at Amarillo.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, holds a bad conduct discharge. Is he entitled to benefits under the GI Bill?

A—Since your husband holds neither an honorable nor a dishonorable discharge from the armed services, it will be necessary for him to ask his nearest VA office for a decision as to whether he was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. He also may apply to the Army or Navy for revision of discharge.

Q—Is my aunt, the daughter of a Civil War veteran, eligible for pension? She and her mother were dependent on the veteran at the time of his death. The widow received a pension until her death, leaving her daughter, aged 75.

A—Unless your aunt was permanently helpless by reason of physical or mental disability prior to having reached the age of 16, she could not now qualify for pension based on her father's service.

Q—Is there any time limit to the duration of a business loan?

A—Yes. A non-real estate business loan must be repaid in 10 years or less; real estate loans may run up to 25 years.

Health Officer Warns of Danger Of Malta Fever

As a safeguard against the serious and disabling disease known as undulant fever or Malta fever, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, has advised Texans to drink milk from approved sources only. Undulant fever is usually acquired by human beings as a result of consuming raw milk or raw milk products from cows infected with Bang's disease.

Raw milk or milk products can be consumed with safety only when they are known to be produced by cows tested and found to be free of Bang's disease. Pasteurization, of course, will kill the germs if present.

To assist in lowering the incidence of undulant fever all dairymen should remove cattle infected with Bang's disease from their herds as soon as the disease is discovered. Even if the milk is made safe for human consumption by pasteurization, infected cows are still a menace to health since they can transmit the disease to healthy animals and to their owner and other persons who handle them.

"Undulant fever from cattle," Dr. Cox said, "is one health hazard we can eradicate in our state through absolutely safe milk supplies from dairy herds free from Bang's disease."

"Unless a herd is known to be free from this infection, only pasteurized milk should be used so that the disease cannot be passed on to the consumer of milk and dairy products."

SHORT STORY

Fifty Grand A Year

By
FREDERICK MEDLIN

THEY still wonder why Johnson went mad so suddenly after he got out of stir. That is, all but Leo, the fence.

Johnson remembered it all as he strode feverishly through the hot, breathless night. The black curtain of darkness that pressed upon every side could hide those things that had gone before. Even their memory increased his furious pace, and it was an effort not to cast a furtive glance over his shoulder as he drew near the spot on which the great oak should stand.

He remembered the light of ten years ago that he had seen the Alsmeyer jewels. It had been a desperate thing to do, and he had half expected to be caught. His mind's-eye saw him crawling up those great tracers of Ivy on the high balcony of the Alsmeyer mansion. He recalled how cautiously he had opened the window with a glass-cutter and a file, how carefully he had placed the charge of explosive against the heavily-concealed wall safe, how warily he had hurried through the acrid smoke to the battered door after the muffled explosion had shaken the room.

When down that sweep of ivy again to the ground and over the wall and along the hard road as the uproar behind him steadily grew, the car with the fingerling searchlight darting down the road, his dogged flight across the field to the momentary haven of the huge oak. His fingers trembled convulsively again as they had when he had tumbled the jewels quickly into the leather bag and buried it safely, far back under the upcurled root. He heard again the deep-throated baying of the hounds, growing always closer, as he had heard it that night, hour after hour, twisting and dodging and hoping, knowing in his own heart that he would be caught, and fearing with hysterical terror.

And that capture! The quick shots, the rapid whine of the bullets, the huge dogs dragging him down....

But they had never found the jewels. He had hidden them well, and for that he had been grateful for ten years.

He came quite suddenly upon the clump of trees. They seemed in the thick darkness to be the same and of ten years ago. He moved out quickly with the flashlight and he found the peculiar root that he had found outward and looped upward, just as it had so long ago, dug back through the loose earth under it; his fingers tingled as they touched rotten leather, and there were the jewels spread out. They were dull—but they were the Alsmeyer jewels.

He had half expected to be caught.

AN HOUR later they were shimmering on velvet in Leo's back room that he used for business of secrecy; and Johnson was trembling with excitement.

Johnson paced the floor. "Five hundred grand!" he gloated. "That's fifty grand a year in the big house, and still they say crime don't pay. Why, Leo, I know lots of big guys that don't make fifty grand a year. I'm up in the big money now and it feels wonderful."

"You know what these are worth?"

"Yeah. Sure I do. So do you." Perhaps he only wanted to bargain. Some of the dread died in Johnson's heart. "Ain't you the best fence in the East? That's why I came to you."

"You know that I'm honest?" Leo's query was very grave and very earnest.

"Sure. You always have been."

"The Alsmeyer jewels," said Leo slowly, almost sadly, "are just imitations. They might be worth five hundred dollars."

They still wonder why Johnson went mad so shortly after he got out of stir, that is, all but Leo, of course. Leo would know, for he is a very shrewd judge of human psychology—and jewels. It is said, by those who know, that Leo made almost half a million dollars out of the Alsmeyer jewels.

U.N. Scouts Help Refugees

The United Nations Scout Association, sponsors of a drive for clothes, toys and food supplies from members of the U.N. staff and delegates, collected approximately two tons of supplies at a ceremony held at Parkway Village, Jamaica, New York (above). The clothing was turned over by the Scouts to the American Friends Committee for distribution to needy persons, especially Palestine refugees.

Training Classes for Aviation Cadets to Be Started April 4

College trainees of the Hamlin area are gradually declining, according to a report to The Times from the Veterans Administration.

Veteran enrollments in colleges and universities under federal training programs on November 30, 1948, dropped 15 per cent below enrollments on November 30, 1947, the Veterans Administration reports.

Similarly, enrollments on October 3, 1948, were 17 per cent under the totals for October 31, 1947.

This fall's drop in the number of veterans in institutions of higher learning under the GI Bill of Public Law 16 (for the disabled) marked the reversal of a general upward trend that had continued since both laws went into effect.

Number of veterans in colleges and universities on November 30, 1948, under both laws was 1,050,668, compared with 1,235,761 as of a year ago.

The October 31, 1948, total was 953,247, while the figure for October 31, 1947, was 1,149,933.

Worth the Risk.

The church service was proceeding successfully when a woman in the gallery got so interested that she leaned out too far and fell over the railing. Her dress caught in a chandelier, and she was suspended in mid-air. The minister noticed her undignified position and thundered at the congregation:

"Any person who turns around will be struck stone blind."

A man whispered to his companion: "I'm going to risk one eye."

Free coinage of silver was the main issue in the presidential election of 1896.

Industrial Surveys Released To West Texas Units by West Texas C-C

With two reports by its railroad committees already completed, and a third well in the making, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has moved to coordinate these industrial reports into a working program, in which Hamlin is intensely interested.

At a meeting of the WTCC officers' committee, under the new administration of John D. Mitchell, Odessa banker, as president, a central coordinating committee has been set up.

J. E. Cunningham of Amarillo and J. B. Thomas of Fort Worth, both well known industrialists of West Texas, will be co-chairmen of the central coordinating committee. Others on the committee will be Frank Kelley of Colorado City, L. C. Porter of Dallas and J. H. Greene of Big Spring for the West Texas Texas & Pacific committee; E. L. Buelow of San Angelo and E. O. Wedgeworth of Pampa for the West Texas Santa Fe committee; R. C. Stanford of Wichita Falls, C. C. Westfall of Stamford, Wright Armstrong of Fort Worth and O. B. Odell of Childress for the West Texas Burlington committee.

Other of the WTCC railroad committees will work with this central committee when their reports are provided, according to the organization plans.

The Santa Fe industrial report covers the cotton and wool textile industries in West Texas, and the cotton report already has been issued in a bulletin from Texas Technological College. The wool report will be off the press within a few days.

The Burlington report, covering the sorghum grains potentialities in West Texas, also has been issued in booklet form.

Only preliminary reports from the T. & P. committee have been made, but an economic analysis of the entire area served by that line in West Texas is now being made, and it also will be studied by the central committee.

It is the purpose of this central committee, according to Mitchell, to coordinate these reports through the local Chambers of Commerce in West Texas, so they may be studied with a view of increasing industrialization of the area.

Copies of these reports have been received by the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce through the WTCC directors.

"We know every town in West Texas cannot get a cotton mill, or a plant utilizing sorghum grains," Mitchell said. "These reports, however, can be used as a basis of study, and conferences will show those towns that do have possibilities."

Only those who have the patience to do simple things perfectly ever acquire the skill to do difficult things easily.—Schiller.

Soil Conservation Work Over the United States Making Land-Use Stable

Jones County soil conservation work, that is more and more paying off for area farmers and ranchers, is only a part of a great nationwide program that is gradually restoring fertility to farm and range lands, saving valuable soil and making more productive land areas, according to Bob Dupree, soil conservationist of the Upper Colorado River Soil Conservation District with district headquarters in Snyder.

H. H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service, said in his 1948 fiscal year report this week the margin between land deterioration and land conservation in the United States has been so narrowed that the goal of a permanent agriculture is in sight "if we but speed up our efforts."

Contributing to the progress of the service's work he reviewed during the past 15 years in his report to Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan was still another record year of farm and range land conservation treatment in farmers' soil conservation districts. That was 21,500,000 acres on which soil conservation measures were applied to meet the needs of the land, or about seven per cent more than in the previous year of 1947.

The report pointed out that during each of the 15 years of the life of the Soil Conservation Service, more conservation work was done per employee than during the preceding year.

"Moreover," the soil conservation chief observed, "increased experience on the part of service technicians, together with increased experience and efficiency of the soil conservation districts and cooperating farmers... collectively have made it possible for the service to increase the work load per man each year without sacrificing quality or thoroughness of the conservation work done."

The 1948 accomplishments with a staff reported at 17 per cent less per soil conservation district than the year before brought to 571,163 the number of active conservation plans made in the districts since August, 1937, covering 157,751,942 acres. The 1948 year's 109,673 plans covered 31,484,947 acres. The 21,576,654 acres treated in the last fiscal year brought the total acreage treated in districts since the first ones were organized to 82,824,431. The figures do not include other work done during the demonstration phases of service activities, mainly on private lands.

"A prosperous and lasting agriculture utterly depends on an adequate supply of productive land, properly used and so protected that it will remain permanently productive," the report emphasized. "Without this solid foundation, there can be no real hope for a continuously successful agriculture, anywhere. And, too, without this foundation there can be no assurance of economic stability and social progress; there can be no assurance of adequate nutrition, prosperity, happiness or peace anywhere on earth. . . . The solution of our land problem can be stated simply: Use each acre of land under adequate safeguards from erosion and other impoverishing forces for the type of production to which it is best suited by nature."

By sharply increasing present conservation operations on the land, he said, the United States can overcome and control erosion within 20 to 30 years. To this end he advanced seven recommendations for getting the conservation job done on time: 1.—Set up a time table for the establishment of those basic measures needed for the conservation of our soil and water resources, according to capability of the land and availability and need of water.

2.—Adjust research in conservation to specific problems encountered in field work and intensify research on those problems.

3.—Encourage and promote a comprehensive program of conservation education through all available educational agencies and institutions.

4.—Complete land capability surveys of the country and analyze the information to provide land facts needed for future farm planning and action.

5.—Recognize and use land capabilities in making production adjustments and in developing other agriculture programs.

6.—Encourage continued organization of soil conservation districts, in order to develop conservation programs with local leadership and direction.

7.—Improve the conservation credit structure.

Area Farmers Watch Trend of Prices for Products of Farms

Hamlin area farmers and others are closely watching the trend of prices as new turns in national and world conditions are affecting the markets of the country.

Farm prices flattened out in January after dropping 13 per cent from record levels during the latter part of 1948, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Reporting last Friday, the Department of Agriculture said the index of prices received by farmers in mid-January was 268 per cent of the 1909-14 base period. This was the same as a month earlier.

Likewise, prices paid by farmers for goods used in family living and in farm production was unchanged from mid-December. The index was 248 per cent of the 1909-14 base.

While the general price level was unchanged, there were changes in individual commodities. Slight increases were reported in prices of feed grains and hay, and sharp rises in fruit and truck crops.

These were offset, however, by declines in prices of meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs.

VETERANS' NEWS

World War II veterans receiving education or training under the GI Bill are urged by the Veterans Administration to include the name and address of their school or training establishment in all correspondence with VA.

This information should be included in addition to the clearly legible, complete name and address of the veteran and the extremely important claim number.

Student-veterans and job-trainees who follow this advice will expedite any action on their case by VA and avoid delays often caused by lack of sufficient information contained in correspondence from veterans.
